Message from the Principal

During the academic year 2015-2016, the University of Mumbai Quality Assurance cell (UMQAC) conducted an Academic Audit of our College in March 2016. A three member team including Dr. A.P. Pradhan (Former Vice-Chancellor, YCMO University), Prof. Rajpal Hande (Ex-Director, BCUD, Mumbai University and Principal, Mithibai College) and Prof. K.R. Patil (Principal, Kamala College, Rajarampur, Kolhapur) visited our College on 29th March 2016 and had interactions with the management, teaching and non-teaching staff as well as students. They visited all our units and were impressed with the range of subjects taught, field work initiatives, contribution of field action projects as well as the disaster intervention undertaken by the staff and students.

Members of two Local Enquiry Committees set up by the University of Mumbai visited the College for approval of additional PhD seats as well as for approval of the PG Diploma course on Child Rights and Child Protection.

Each and every member of the institution worked towards making these visits successful and we place on record their immense contribution. We hope to soon work on the suggestion of the team to apply for autonomy and also to attain the status of a college with potential for excellence.

With Sincere Thanks

❖ Para Professional Training in Social Work (Youth)

The 39th and 40th batches of the 6 months' 'Para Professional Training in Social Work' were organized during this year and 60 students successfully completed the course. Most of the students selected for the course were actively involved with NGOs while others were volunteers and college students who were helped find employment even before they completed the course. Students were exposed to various social issues, social work methods, skills and intervention strategies. For their individual assignments and final group presentations, they visited various NGOs working on social issues like Prayas, The Humsafar Trust, Savitribai Phule Gender Resource Centre, CCDT, Pratham, YUVA, Vatsalya Foundation, Balprafullta, Anmol Jeevan Foundation and so on. Assignments and group presentations helped students learn presentation skills, gain confidence and work as a team.

For the students of the 39th batch, a two-day camp was organized in the National Park at Borivali where a session was conducted on environmental concerns and the nearby padas were visited to learn about urban slums. The next day, a debate on inter-caste marriages was organized for half a day and in the second half, a workshop on personality development and self-motivation was conducted by Fr. Sandeep Borges.

For the 40th batch, a one-day rural camp was conducted at ‘Tamarind Tree’, an English medium school and NGO at Dahanu working on innovative teaching. The camp was a good learning experience for the students with its rural exposure and opportunity for group bonding.

The 41st batch of Para Professional Training began in January 2016. There continues to be a great demand for our trained personnel among the NGOs in Mumbai.

- ❖ A three months’ course on ‘Basic Skills in Counselling’ was conducted from July 2015 to October 2015 in order to enhance the potential and capacities of these trained para professionals. Seventeen students successfully completed the course. The main objective of this course was to gain insights into the key elements of counselling and be equipped with knowledge of self and others.
- ❖ The Sanghamitra Group, comprised of the alumni of the para professional course has been active and dynamic. Regular monthly meetings on the second Sunday are held at the Extension Centre and programs are decided in a highly participative manner. The sessions organized this year were on superstition and the Indian Constitution. The group also celebrated Diwali and International Women’s Day and so on, during which documentaries were screened and discussions were held on the same. The alumni got an opportunity to share their knowledge and experiences during monthly meetings.

Twenty nine senior citizens completed the 27th and 28th batches of this 3 months' course. Like past students of the course, these students were also eager to gain basic social work knowledge and skills in order to serve the disadvantaged sections of society. The sessions, skill workshops, exposure visits, assignments and group presentations held during the course helped students enhance their understanding about various social issues and also provided a platform to share their knowledge and experiences. The exposure visits were to police stations, Family Court and hospitals and NGOs like MAVA, Snehasadan, NAB, Vatsalya Foundation and A1 Snehanjali. Their enthusiasm and interest spurs them on to voluntary work in various NGOs. Therefore after completion of the course, they have offered their time and abilities to NGOs and also utilize their knowledge in their locality to serve society more meaningfully.

The course certificates were given to the successful students by Dr. Geeta Balakrishnan, the College Principal and by Dr. Lidwin Dias, the Director of the Extension Centre. The students shared their experiences and learnings after receiving the certificates. They expressed their gratitude towards the College and the Extension Centre for giving them the opportunity to learn and enhance their understanding on social issues.

An exposure visit was organized by the members to 'Go Green Nursery' and 'Yusuf Meher Ali Centre' at Panvel which was an eye opener to them regarding environmental concerns.

A neem sapling was planted in the premises of the Extension Centre by the alumni members in October 2016 to promote the idea of saving trees.

The alumni members are providing their help and resources to the needy people in their locality. Some of them are also working as volunteers in various NGOs. The Alumni Association takes special efforts in sending birthday cards to members.

The 'Annual Get Together' continues to be a popular and interesting event which was well organized and attended by the alumni as well as new members on 6th February, 2016 at the Extension Centre, Goregaon. All the members enjoyed the games, cultural programs and also sharing about their contribution to society. FIELD ACTION PROJECTS

Anubhav Mumbai Project

Anubhav Mumbai, a project of the College of Social Work, has been working with the students and non-student youth of the suburban colleges of Mumbai since 1997. The goal of Anubhav Mumbai is “Youth Development and Youth for Development”. Anubhav Mumbai aims at enabling youth to discover themselves and to contribute positively to the development of society as concerned and responsible citizens.

The year began with college campaigning, group bonding workshop, campus exposure visits and awareness programs for the youth. The theme of the year was “Youth for Social Justice”, also one of the project’s core values. The programs, visits, workshops and debates organized were related to this theme. The mission of Anubhav Mumbai is educating youth to be leaders and change agents in society and these activities were conducted for developing youth and creating future leaders.

The various awareness programs and workshops were on topics such as communal harmony, preamble of Constitution of India, Hepatitis B and C, women’s empowerment, how to Say No, superstition, human rights, child sexual abuse, sex, sexuality and gender, status of women in India and women’s rights. These sessions gave the youth an insight into issues of social justice and also helped them develop their own perspectives regarding the same. It has also created critical thinking among the students. Other sessions included 'Best out of Waste' to save the environment by using the three Rs (Reduce, Reuse and Recycle), street play workshop and puppet making workshop to develop skills, increase confidence and develop personality.

It was observed that some students were good in interacting with shop keepers and people in the community. On the other hand, some students were having difficulty in speaking to people in the market and the community. But with the help of Anubhav Mumbai staff, they made this campaign a successful event. This activity helped the students increase their confidence and get urban community exposure.

It has expanded its activities to rural development and panchayati raj, besides adding a residential school for adivasi children, a home for the aged, a home for the invalids, a cooperative credit society and a naturopathy clinic. These activities also helped convey the message that leprosy is not hereditary, is curable, and patients need not be isolated as this is a minimally infectious disease.

The visit was attended by 28 members who spoke to some of the 110 patients on campus. There are 350 other patients in its units spread in 185 neighboring villages.

Exposure Visit to CORP: Anubhav Mumbai organized a visit to Community Outreach Research Program (CORP) at Matunga which runs a residential home for disabled people. AROEHAN

AROEHAN is today poised at the threshold of its tenth birthday. From a small initiative which began with one professional social worker and one local para professional worker, the field action project today has 45 staff members working in the tribal talukas of Mokhada and Jawhar in 15 and 9 Gram Panchayats (GPs) of these talukas respectively. The staff, led by Ms. Shraddha Shringarpure – an alumna of the College, comprises trained social workers and graduates from rural development, agriculture and other social sciences. The average age of the staff members is 30 years and except two, all are local youth from the very tribes with which AROEHAN works.

AROEHAN continues to work on the issues of Health, Education, Livelihood and Governance and has developed an integrated model of intervention to bring socio-economic stability in the lives of the tribal communities in the area. The donor list of the organization has steadily grown in the last few years to include Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd., Siemens India Limited, Edelgive Foundation, Concern India Foundation, Tata Motors Limited, All Cargo Logistics, Gold Crest Limited, and a host of other private trusts and individuals. For technical support and as knowledge partners, Natural Solutions, IIT Mumbai and BAIF have been collaborating on several projects with AROEHAN.

This year, as in all years gone by, AROEHAN has achieved several firsts:

- It has installed an Ultra Sonography (USG) machine at the Cottage Hospital at Jawhar. This is the first machine of the kind in a government hospital in the district, giving free service to all those in the BPL category, and bringing much-needed relief to pregnant women in the area who had to travel a minimum of 60 km to Nasik to get a sonography done. AROEHAN staff have this year helped 235 women get their sonographies done at Nasik.
- It has planted more than 50,000 trees in various Gram Panchayats during the year. The trees will be cared for by more than 651 persons who will be the direct recipients of the benefits apart from the enhanced forest cover that will benefit the community at large.

- It has established School Management Committees in all ashram schools to monitor governance in these schools.
- It has installed water filters in two schools and shown how water-borne diseases can be drastically reduced. AROEHAN is working closely with the ITDP department to scale up this intervention to all schools.

Health

In an area where low birthweight babies are a norm rather than an exception, and where child deaths due to malnourishment are a regular, disturbing feature of daily life, AROEHAN has concerned itself with improving health services and health access for these communities in the past decade. The highlights of our health intervention are as follows:

- Approximately 1000 children were covered by the Special Feed (SF) Program this year. The SF which comprises of milk powder, groundnuts, jaggery, oil, and micro-nutrients, is a formula prepared by the State Rajmata Jijau Mission and has succeeded in moving the children from the Severely Underweight (SUW) category to the Moderately Underweight (MUW).
- Frequent meetings of mother-support groups in various anganwadis and the celebration of 6-monthly birthdays have brought home the need for introducing babies to solid foods at 6 months of age and raised the awareness levels among women who look forward to these birthday celebrations eagerly.
- The idea of kitchen gardens, soak pits and toilets has been introduced in hamlets as a part of the health intervention. A drastic change has been seen in the behaviour of the people.

Education

School Management Committees and School Committees have strengthened in the Zilla Parishad and ashram schools respectively. The training sessions and meetings organized by AROEHAN helped the Committees get clarity about their structure and the importance of their role. Throughout the year educational and cultural activities were organized in the schools. Campaigns for children's rights and for ensuring 100% attendance were also undertaken. Mock Gramsabhas were organized in schools to make students socially sensitive and understand their rights and obligations as citizens.

A survey was conducted to identify and follow up on drop-outs. There were 16 students in the Mokhada block who had dropped out of school. Through constant follow up with the children and their parents, 10 of these have been re-admitted to school. The process of addressing the issues of the remaining 6 students is still going on.

Water purifiers installed at the Palsunda and Zaap ashram schools have drastically reduced the water borne diseases among the students there. The result is manifested in 100% attendance of the students in class.

Livelihood

Livelihood interventions focused on the strengthening of agriculture and supporting the farmers by increasing the area under productivity and introducing allied agriculture activities such as fruit cultivation and horticulture. 8125 trees were planted in the Kurlod-Botoshi village alone, directly benefitting 56 farmers.

From an initial group of seven farmers and 11 acres of land, the organization has increased its reach to include many more farmers and cover many more acres. Green patches seen on the outskirts of villages now are often small plots belonging to AROEHAN farmers. They now have a visibility and presence in the nearby markets where "Mokhada vegetables" have almost become a brand.

The farmers of Mokhada have now moved from traditional rain-fed agriculture to more modern techniques like mulching and drip irrigation which they can undertake in the non-monsoon period. This has been a major achievement for the entire AROEHAN team.

The livelihood intervention has also focused on water security. We have built several large and small bunds, repaired old and caved-in wells and constructed new wells - saving thousands of litres of water for a water-scarce area. Water storage has positively impacted agricultural development. This has reduced the number of families that migrate for wage-work – which is now available in their own and surrounding villages. The incomes of farmers and other families now involved in this agricultural development have also augmented.

Amle village – which cultivates land on the basis of the solar energy driven pump, has started sending Mogra (jasmine) flowers to Dadar market. Mogras from Amle have great demand and fetch the highest rate in the market.

Governance

AROEHAN's governance team aims at increasing the accountability of the state and its various arms by increasing people's participation in all public spaces like gram sabhas, various committees of the gram panchayats, community monitoring of services and so on.

Gram Sabhas conducted in all the GPs having AROEHAN presence showed an increase in attendance as well as in the active participation of people. People are not only trained on the important issues concerning village development but have also started following up on these. An important activity conducted during the Gram Sabha was the public reading of the "shelf of works" to be taken up by the GP under NREGA. This was a major eye-opener for the people as they realized that a lot of wage-labour could be generated in their own village as per the development plan. For instance, the Assistant Officer, Agriculture announced that Rs. 45 lakhs worth of shelf in Kurlod GP was pending and could be undertaken post December 15, 2015. This gives an assurance to the people that they need not migrate in those days as work will be available locally.

Pada samitis were formed by AROEHAN with the sole objective of disseminating information at household level and developing community based monitoring systems. The standard practice adopted by AROEHAN is to nominate one representative for a group of 10-12 households.

Gavataka -known to be one of the most difficult villages- also got persuaded to participate in the change process, thanks to the perseverance of AROEHAN staff. The Gramsevika who had not turned up for a year visited the village for the first time and the first ever gram sabha in Gavataka took place. Around 35 villagers were present for the meeting. Surprisingly, the number of youth attending was more and they confidently put forward the village issues. The Gramsevika also agreed to visit the village on every second Monday of the month.

Ultimately, it is the willingness of the people to make a difference to their lives. Their struggle to achieve this against all odds is the driving force for AROEHAN's work.

The College thanks the AROEHAN staff and all our donors and well-wishers for their contribution in furthering the vision of the College and promoting the cause of justice and equity in society.

We congratulate the AROEHAN team led by Ms. Shraddha Shringarpure for the achievements of the project. We also congratulate the Director Ms. Anjali Kanitkar for being appointed Director-Social Audit of MNREGA, on deputation from the College.

BADDI EXTENSION PROJECT:

The Nirmala Niketan Institute started its extension project in Baddi in September 2011. It is in the fifth year of its outreach program for the migrants of the Baddi-Barotiwala-Nalagarh Development Authority (BBNDA) industrial zone. There are approximately 1.6 lakh migrants living in the slums of Baddi and our focus has been education, skill development, social and health programs for their out of school children and women. Even without permanent infrastructure, we have provided them with quality education within their locality through our committed staff and benefactors.

Education: This academic year commenced with a sense of joy as most of our children had performed well in the final exams and were promoted. Their eagerness to learn more and cooperation in all the activities is of great significance.

A lot of effort has been made to keep up the motivation of students to attend school regularly and reduce the drop-out rate. This includes extra-curricular activities like quizzes and regular meetings with parents and home visits. The center provides a comfortable environment for learning for the children.

Children participated in various programs like skits, dances, songs, speeches and rallies spreading various messages like patriotism, cleanliness, environment protection etc. The flag hoisting ceremony on Republic Day was done by a girl student from our Labour Chowk center. Students were also taken on exposure visits to Chattbir zoo, Bhakra-Nangal dam and Naina Devi temple.

Sports Day: The Annual Sports Day took place on December 12, 2015 at Suraj Majra village grounds, Baddi. The Sports Day is organized for the holistic development of the children and to inculcate team spirit, competitive spirit and personality growth. Prior to this event, semi-finals were conducted at each center from 2nd to 5th December.

Mr. Narender, the chief and other residents of the Surajmajra village, Fr. Amrit Lal from Blessed Mother Teresa Church, Sun City, and Mr. Vijay Singh, Member H.P. Labana Welfare Board, Shimla were also present. Teachers who won also got prizes. The program ended with lunch for all, generously sponsored and prepared by 'Navjivan Youth Group' of Swaraj Majara village.

Parents' Meetings: Meetings with parents were held every 2 -3 months. The focus was on creating awareness on a parent's role and participation in children's education. During this academic year, 25 meetings were held in our eight centers and 919 parents attended. We see parents realizing the importance of education and encouraging their children to get admitted in the school. The dropout rate has come down and regular attendance has increased.

Disaster Intervention – Fire in Damunagar, Kandivali - East, Mumbai

MSW-II: Class of 2014-2016

(A Report by Students)

Work with Children

Need Assessment:

On 14th December, about a week after the tragedy of cylinder blasts in Kandivali, all the MSW-II students went for need assessment to Damunagar. In this visit three students visited Anudatt School to check if the children had resumed attending classes. But it was found that children had lost everything from books to uniforms and bags. So far no help had reached the children in terms of providing educational material. The area was supplied with basic necessities such as clothes, vessels and food. There were also complaints from the parents that the schools did not consider the children's state and asked them to come in full school uniform.

Later in a discussion with faculty members it was decided that the children were definitely in a state of trauma which they could not express. Hence it was decided that initially, attempts would be made to alleviate their stress/trauma and later to help them get the materials needed for school.

On 16th December, each of our students brought some materials for the children's activity, such as colors and paper. A location was fixed and the children brought the students by calling them from their homes. About 40 children gathered in half an hour. The session included action songs and story-telling. The fantasy element of these activities was used to minimize painful thoughts. A lunch break was followed by drawing and coloring to bring in positive emotions.

The students also helped another donor collect data regarding the needs of the 215 children.

The next day the students were pleasantly surprised to see the children already gathered at the meeting point where the local youth had also voluntarily set up a microphone and speakers. This session included action songs, story-telling and craft and post-lunch, drawing and coloring.

School Visits:

The students also visited schools in the area: The Akurli Municipal School and Anudatt School. The students visited the Principals of the three sections of the school. The Marathi medium had 89 students affected by the tragedy, the Gujarati medium 59 and Hindi medium 17.

In Raj High School, a private school, 411 students were affected.

Anudatt School, a semi-government school, had 5 affected children from the English medium (private) and 64 from the Marathi medium (government).

None of these schools had been provided any aid by the government or any other donors. Only Raj High School had given its students tiffin boxes and bottles on its own account but being a private entity, it could not provide uniforms or any other material and was also seeking sponsorship for fees.

Work with Youth

A group was formed with ten youth of the community. Group sessions were also conducted with 25-30 youths and their individual profiles noted. A signature campaign was carried out on sanitation, security and health-related concerns. Group media like street plays and group songs were used to promote unity.

The major concerns faced by the youth included loss of income, negative impact on education - especially for those in Std. X or XII, lack of safety - especially for women, sanitation, and lack of food and legal documents.

The major achievement for the students of this group was linking the affected youth to the NSS Unit of Thakur College and Bombay Catholic Sabha.

Work with Women

The main concerns of the women in the community were lack of shelter and places for safekeeping important documents, robbery, trafficking, lack of uniforms and financial aid for children's books, commuting, loss of documents, and lack of water and sanitation. There was also an increase in domestic violence, liquor consumption, and health problems related to water.

The chawls visited were Khoppe, Bhimnagar and Anand Utsav Chawl.

Work with the Elderly

The needs of the affected elderly included medicines (for blood pressure, epilepsy, arthritis, eye problems, asthma, body ache, joint pain, cold, cough, fever, diabetes, gastronomical diseases, dengue, jaundice, swelling of feet, injuries due to fire), blankets, cotton sarees and assistance in making various documents.

The students contacted Silver Innings Foundation for needs assessment and for distribution of relief materials.

The following observations were made:

- The elderly had difficulty in accessing food and relief as they could not walk.
- The elderly were neglected in the community and had to fend for themselves
- They were left alone in the house while their children were at work
- The medicines provided did not bring relief
- Some of them still worked as domestic workers and the fire had prevented them from doing so.

Work with Systems

The purpose of this group working with systems was to interact with the government agencies on behalf of the slum dwellers after need assessment and to retrieve all government documents for all families from the respective offices.

The group observed the community and dialogued with the slum dwellers for needs assessment. Mr. Sanjay Kirtikar, a relief coordinator, introduced the group to Mr. Yashwant Hiwale, who being a resident of the community provided a lot of information about the incident, and about relief work by the Collector's office and other government agencies.

The current land is under the jurisdiction of the Maharashtra state forest department. The area engulfed in fire was part of the 40 acres of land allotted for a cowshed under the development plan.

More than half the families had migrated from Jalna and other neighboring districts of Aurangabad 25-30 years ago. Some families had migrated from Haryana, UP, North Karnataka etc. Hence, all families had Maharashtra domicile and local government documents. Some of them had already received new ration cards as per the Collector's order and many other government documents were in the process of being distributed.

The major concern of all the families was their permanent rehabilitation given the fact that they had faced such a situation twice before. There were also speculations that this incident could have been organized and executed for the vested interests of developers. Some families had paid Rs. 7000/- to the Forest Department for their rehabilitation in Chandivali in 2008. However, very few of them were actually given place of residence in Chandivali.

A majority of the families have the orange ration card but their cards did not have "Antodaya Anna Yojana" stamp. Many of the families had applied for ration cards by filing forms applicable for homeless person but have not received it since the last two years. The new ration cards issued to the families had errors, especially about the relationship of the members with the cardholder.

Half of the Damu Nagar community has no access to piped water and there was visible leakage in the rest of the area.

The bio- toilets provided to the community by the corporator were not functioning. Those built by the forest department were closed. This increases security risks for women and children, compounded by lack of electricity. Also, most of the services provided like toilets and water were insufficient given the population.

Second, the students of BSW-III and MSW-II classes have started a Green Club whose main objective is to set up a biogas plant to process the waste generated in the college and to raise awareness about the importance of segregation of waste. They also conducted a cleanliness competition for the same.

Two students' general body meetings (one per semester) and a feedback meeting were conducted this year. Various issues which required immediate action were addressed by the management based on the suggestions of the general body meeting.

Green Class and Cleanliness Competition

The purpose behind the cleanliness competition was to bring behavioral change in the students, and make them aware about class cleanliness. Through this activity students would understand the concept of segregation and would be able to practice it and implement it in their life ahead.

For the assessment of the competition, the supervision team we formed which included 1-2 members from each class and support staff members who clean the classes every day. Support staff accompanied the student supervisors so as to have an unbiased fair judgement of each class.

This activity lasted for 5 days a week and was conducted once in a month.

All classes were judged on the following criteria:

- A) Overall cleanliness in the class (class benches, floor)
- B) Proper use of fans and electricity in the class

- C) Two dustbins in the class for segregation of wet waste and dry waste, proper labeling of dustbins, and segregation of waste

Each class would get points out of 20 every day and out of 100 for 5 days.
